MEDICINAL.

It is much easier for a woman to confide in the average man than in the average woman. She knows that the man will respect her confidences and keep them to himself. He is strong, has more experience of the world and can help the woman who needs advice. There is every reason why women should not trust their delicate constitutions in the hands of unskilled persons. It requires a thorough medical education to appreciate and understand the womanly organism. When a woman has the means and pays that she cannot bear—when life seems dark for every woman, she should confide her troubles to a physician of standing in the community, or one who has a national reputation. Certainly it would not be the part of wisdom to confide in an ignorant person without medical education simply because she was a woman. There is every reason why she should write to some great specialist, one who has made the diseases of women a specialty for a third of a century, like Dr. R. V. Pierce, founder of the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, of Buffalo, N. Y. All his correspondence is held sacredly confidential, and he gives his advice free and without charge.

So uniformly successful has Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription proven in all forms of Female Weakness, Prolapse, or Falling of the Uterus, and Leucorrhoea, that, after curing the worst cases of these distressing and debilitating ailments, Dr. Pierce now feels fully warranted in offering to pay $50 in cash for any case of these diseases which he cannot cure.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets should be used with "Favorite Prescription" whenever a woman is required.

Men and Women Unanimous About It.
Many women weep and wail and refuse to be comforted because their once magnificent tresses have become thin and faded. Many men incline to profanity because the flies bite through the thin tresses on their craniums. It will be good news to the miserable of both sexes to learn that Newbro's Hairbalm has been placed upon the market. This is the new scalp germicide and antiseptic that acts by destroying the germ or microbe that is the underlying cause of all hair destruction. Hairbalm is a new preparation, made after a new formula on an entirely new principle. Anyone who has tried it will testify as to its worth. Try it yourself and be convinced. Sold by leading druggists. Send 2c. in stamps for sample to The Hairbalm Co., Detroit, Mich.

WHY BOOTH KILLED LINCOLN.

Mrs. B. G. Clifford, of Union, S. C., corresponding secretary of South Carolina Division, Daughters of the Confederacy, writes as follows in the State of Columbia, South Carolina:

Most historians have been content to state the simple fact that J. Wilkes Booth shot and killed President Lincoln in Ford's Theatre, at Washington, on April 14, 1865.
Barnes' School History adds to this statement that by the shooting of Lincoln, Booth "insanely imagined that he was ridding his country of a tyrant," while a recent Southern historian says: "Abraham Lincoln was shot in a theatre at Washington on the night of April 14 by an actor, who, sympathizing with the falling Confederacy, thought his deed would avenge the South."

In the editorial columns of the Christian Observer, Louisville, Ky., of October 12, the following statements are made, to which, as a Daughter of the Confederacy deeply interested in all that pertains to the truth of history and the honor of the South, I desire to call the attention of South Carolinians:

"No citizen of the Southern Confederacy had anything to do with the assassination of Mr. Lincoln."
"John Wilkes Booth, who assassinated Mr. Lincoln, was a citizen of the United States—not of the Confederate States. He was at no time a resident of the Confederate States. His Southern sympathies did not lead him to come to the South and make common cause with the South. It was not an ardent love of the South or of the southern cause that prompted Mr. Booth's crime, but rather a spirit of revenge for the personal wrong that Mr. Lincoln had done in having Capt. John Young Beall, one of Booth's friends, unjustly executed."

"The editor of the Christian Observer was acquainted with Captain Beall. He was a native of Virginia, a member of a good family, a college graduate, a brave young man of attractive personality. In Richmond, Va., he boarded at the same house, ate at the same table and we learned to appreciate his sterling worth."
"In the fall of 1864 a man was wanted to lead a hazardous enterprise and make a diversion on Lake Erie and he promptly responded to the call of his government. With a handful of brave men he sailed on a boat on Lake Erie, made it crew prisoners, converted it into a war vessel, captured or sank one or more other boats, terrorized the commerce of the Great Lakes, produced a panic in Buffalo and the cities on the lakes, and thoroughly alarmed the northern people. In due time he was captured. He was tried by a court-martial and sentenced to death as a pirate."

"John Wilkes Booth interested himself in his behalf; obtained from the Confederate government at Richmond, Va., the evidence that he was a commissioned officer of the Confederate navy; he obtained also evidence that his acts were only those of legitimate warfare, and that he was acting under instructions from the Confederate government. Booth went to Washington armed with these documents and secured from President Lincoln the promise that Captain Beall should not be put to death, but should be treated as a prisoner of war. This promise of Mr. Lincoln gave offense to Secretary Seward, who persuaded him, in the face of it, to sanction Beall's execution, and Captain Beall was hanged at Governor's Island, N. Y., on February 24, 1865."

"John Wilkes Booth was not a well-balanced man at his best. Doubtless he inherited a streak of the insanity with which his father, though a great actor, was from time to time afflicted. Be that as it may, he was fearfully wrought up by the death of his friend in such circumstances. He denounced the killing in cold blood of a prisoner of war after he had surrendered as 'murder,' and the doing it after the President had given his word that it should not be done as 'falsehood' and 'treachery,' and vowed vengeance against the author of this wrong."

"At once he organized a conspiracy for the assassination of President Lincoln and Secretary Seward, and on the night of April 14, only seven weeks after Captain Beall was hanged, the plot was executed. Booth shot Mr. Lincoln at Ford's Theatre, Washington, exclaiming: 'Six semper tyranni!' and on the same night Paine, one of his co-conspirators, inflicted severe but not mortal wounds on William H. Seward, Secretary of State."

"The United States was fearfully aroused by the assassination of the President. At first it was suspected that the crime had been instigated by Confederates. Many prominent citizens of the Confederacy were arrested. The most thorough and searching examination was made, and it was conclusively proved that no representative of the Southern Confederacy had any hand in it. It was as sincerely regretted and as severely condemned through the South as in the North. Mr. Lincoln was killed not by a citizen of the Confederate States, but by a citizen of the United States—a partially deranged man, to avenge the wrong he claimed had been suffered by his friend at Mr. Lincoln's hands."

Quick Arrest.
J. A. Gullledge, of Verbena, Ala., was twice in the hospital from a severe case of piles, causing 24 tumors. After doctors and all remedies failed, Busken's Anus-Solve quickly arrested further inflammation and cured him. It conquers aches and kills pain. 25c at E. S. Leadbeater & Sons, Drugists.

Apostolic Legation's Home.

Prelates of the American hierarchy are perfecting arrangements for the erection at an early date of a magnificent home in Washington for the Apostolic Legation, which has for a number of years been located at the northeast corner of Second and I streets northwest, in a historic old mansion given to the church by prominent Catholics. Ground has been purchased for a site for the legation on Baltimore street between Eighteenth and Nineteenth streets, the purchase being made by Cardinal Gibbons through the firm of A. A. Wilson & Co., and the Thomas J. Fisher Company. The property fronts 125 feet on Baltimore street, and is situated between the residences of Edward J. Steilweger and Charles G. Thorn. The site is in what is known as Washington Heights, near the intersection of Eighteenth street and Columbia road, and is understood to have cost about $30,000. Plans have not been made for the building.

Only Makes a Bad Matter Worse.
Perhaps you have never thought of it but the fact must be apparent to every one that constipation is caused by a lack of water in the system, and the use of drastic cathartics like the old-fashioned Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets are much more mild and gentle in their effects, and when the proper dose is taken their action is so natural that one can hardly realize it is the effect of a medicine. Try a 25 cent bottle of them. For sale by Gibson & Timberman and W. F. Creighton & Co., druggists.

A Good Complexion.
"Sparkling eyes and rosy cheeks restored by using DeWitt's Little Blue Pills," so writes S. P. Moore, of Nacogdoches, Tex. A certain cure for biliousness, constipation, etc. Small pill—easy to take—easy to act. Sold by all druggists.
